

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute

A Special PCORI Webinar: Setting Standards for Patient-Centeredness and Patient Engagement in Research

Tuesday, August 14, 2012, 1:00 PM – 2:00 PM ET

DRAFT Agenda

The Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) is holding a special webinar to brief stakeholders on PCORI's draft Methodology Report and encourage public comment. The draft report, released July 23, 2012, offers standards to guide health care stakeholders towards the best and most appropriate methods for conducting patient-centered outcomes research

Time	Agenda Item	PCORI Speakers
1:00-1:05 p.m.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Welcome Introductory Poll Questions 	Lori Frank
1:05-1:10 p.m.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Introduction to PCORI PCORI's Commitment to Patient Engagement 	Gail Hunt
1:10-1:20 p.m.	Methodology Committee Mission and draft Report <ul style="list-style-type: none"> A primer on the objectives of the Methodology Committee and the process for creating the draft Methodology Report. 	Ethan Basch and David Meltzer
1:20-1:30 p.m.	Setting Standards for Patient-Centeredness and Engagement <ul style="list-style-type: none"> How to ensure patients are involved at all stages of research Setting Standards for Research Prioritization <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Deciding what we should study 	Ethan Basch and David Meltzer
1:30-1:55 p.m.	Question & Answer Session <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Methodology Committee members Ethan Basch and David Meltzer will answer questions about the draft Methodology Report. 	Lori Frank, Ethan Basch and David Meltzer
1:55 p.m.	Closing Poll Questions	Lori Frank
2:00 p.m.	Adjournment

Please submit questions for the Q&A portion of today's webinar to methodswebinar@pcori.org

Formal public comments can be submitted at pcori.org/survey/methodology-report/